

December 8, 2010

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW,
Room TW-A325
Washington, DC 20554

Re: Docket GN 10-127

Dear Ms. Dortch:

Today, Amina Fazlullah, Cecila Garcia of the Benton Foundation, Cheryl Leanza of the United Church of Christ, Office of Communication, Inc. and Christopher Calabrese of the American Civil Liberties Union met by telephone with Zachary Katz of Chairman Genachowski's office regarding issues in the above-captioned docket.

We discussed our concerns with disparate treatment of wireline and wireless, the potential for loopholes in the definition of broadband services, a need for language creating a presumption against paid prioritization, and our concern that the legal underpinning for the Internet openness might not be sufficient to withstand court review. We expressed our particular concern with the need for legal authority over broadband in the Lifeline and Linkup program and privacy areas. We additionally reviewed and reiterated our positions in prior filings in this docket.

Sincerely,

Cheryl A. Leanza
United Church of Christ, Office of Communication, Inc.

/s/
Amina Fazlullah
Benton Foundation

/s/
Christopher Calabrese
American Civil Liberties Union